TO HOLD WAR COUNCIL HERE

Plans Will Be Made To Hold Mass Meetings In State.

At the meeting of the State Council of Defense in Jefferson City Wednesday it was decided to hold a state war council at Columbia, January 16 and 17. At least one member of President Wilson's Cabinet will be present and plans will be worked out for holding mass meetings in every county of the state and thus arouse greater public interest in the conflict in Europe.

For nearly two hours, in executive session, the council discussed the activities of pro-Germanism in this state. It was decided that in aggravated cases the council would employ agents to run down and prosecute enemy aliens of this Government. Meantime, it was decided to request the United States Attorney General to give the council his view as to how far a man can go in his activities on the side of the enemies of this Government and the Allied governments. Meanwhile, each local branch of the council will be urged to report every case of disloyalty to the state organization.

Houston Withe of St. Joseph thought it would be a good idea for the council to take some steps looking to the saving of electric energy that is used in the cities in display signs. It was decided to call upon all the lighting companies and ask them to co-operate and bring about this saving.

Dr. E. H. Bullock, state land reclamation commissioner, brought up the question of alien ownership of land in Missouri. It was decided to call upon every collector in the state for figures to ascertain just how much land in Missouri is owned by enemy aliens. And the attorney general was asked to prepare a legal opinion as to what action can be taken in the matter of such ownership, whether the land is subject to seizure, etc.

The care of disabled soldiers after the war was discussed briefly, and the information was imparted that the Government is now at work on an extensive plan for providing for such soldiers by providing them with suitable and profitable employment along various lines.

The question of employing the idle in the large cities on farms resulted in a divided opinion. The farmer members of the council said only skilled farm labor could be employed by the farmers to any advantage.

A report was made to the council on the alleged disloyalty of F. W. Lind, a country school teacher three miles from Brookfield. Although he was born in this country, he is accused of various disloyal acts, such as printing a pamphlet in which he charged the Eastern press in this country has been purchased by the English government, and that the English language newspapers generally have not permitted Germany's side of the war to be printed.

It was said also he refused to sign the food pledge and would not permit it to be circulated for his school children to sign. Lind holds a life certificate to teach in the public schools of Missouri. The state superintendent of public schools was requested by the council to revoke Lind's certificate.

The concert is to be a demonstration of the life-like qualities of the Edison Re-Created music. (Adv.)

LIBRARIES IN CAMPS VALUED BY SOLDIERS

Work of Supplying Men With Reading Material Makes Good Progress.

CARNEGIE BIG GIVER
Every Camp, Transport and Naval Base to Be Equipped With Books.

Reports received by the War Service Committee of the American Library Association show good prospects of reaching the goal set. Among the subscriptions is a grant by the Carnegie Corporation for a distinct library building at each of the sixteen cantonments, and also for buildings at such of the National Guard camps as have a prospect of permanence justifying them. Contracts for the buildings at the cantonments have already been executed.

These buildings will be centers for receiving and distributing books to be served through the Y. M. C. A., the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, and other agencies. Every one of these agencies will be utilized, and needs to be, for a cantonment covers a large area, and a single visit to each of the units in it involves a trip of from 10 to 17 miles.

The actual service of reading matter is already under way. Thousands of books and magazines have been gathered, forwarded and issued to the men. Representatives of the Library War Service Committee, later to become Camp Librarians, are now on the spot organizing the work. Their reports show a great eagerness for reading matter on the part of the men and an enthusiastic appreciation on the part of the officers.

Wide Range of Books

The reports show also that the men crave something more than recreative reading; they want books about motor cars, gasoline engines, airplanes and submarines, war manuals and poetry. One librarian reports that 90 per cent of the circulation is non-fiction, mostly technical history, French and "war stuff." This report adds: "a man who came in last night almost wept for joy over our few remaining books, picked out three or four, wanted to do something to help, sat down at the machine and made two cards for each of 100 books. If we had 10,000 books they would all be demanded with a week."

At some of the places, for instance the Naval Training Station at the Great Lakes, enlisted men are pursuing systematic studies, and want text books in mathematics, engineering, history and languages.

It appears that the funds available for purchase may be applied largely to books of a "serious" nature, the "lighter" sort—including recent fiction—being largely supplied by gift. Thousands of volumes have been received, but many thousands more are needed, and the campaign for them will continue as long as the war lasts. So must the campaign for funds also, if the war lasts long, for the sum raised is meager compared with the needs to be met.

Besides the numerous points in this country there are the transports (each of which may be equipped with a small selected collection), the naval bases abroad and the camps at the front. Indications are that an army of a million men, composed as this has been, and with definite hours available for reading, is equivalent to an ordinary community of four or five times that number.

The Books to Be Bought.

Lists have been compiled during several months past by a committee of librarians in New York. From them selections will be made for the initial purchase, which will take account also of the reports from the camps as to what is needed. This first selection will be experimental, and the collection will then be built up upon its results. The purchases will be made direct from the publishers, who have agreed generally to give a special discount of 50 per cent. Many publishers of magazines and newspapers are giving their current issues outright.

of the work as a whole is from now on to be under the librarian of Congress, and the headquarters will be in the library of Congress. This was decided at recent meetings of the committee at which the need was discussed of a single responsible executive to secure the prompt and urgent action required. It will mean a continuing and intimate co-operation with the Commission on Training Camp Activities, at whose invitation the American Library Association undertook the service, also with the Y. M. C. A. and other agencies with related purposes and activities.

Donations Received Here.
The organization at headquarters includes, besides the librarian of Congress, Dr. Herbert Putnam; the camp librarians manager, Matthew S. Dudgeon; and executive secretary, George B. Utley, who, as secretary of the American Library Association, has been detailed for the purpose, and a disbursing officer, William L. Brown. The American Security and Trust Company of Washington remains treasurer of the fund.

Subscriptions to the fund should now be sent direct to the treasurer.

Books offered as gifts may be handed to the librarian of the nearest public library, who will forward them without cost to the giver. He is informed as to what will be useful and instructed to forward only that. He should therefore be consulted.

TRACED BY FOOTPRINT IN SNOW

Francis Branham Held On Charge of Robbery.

Francis Branham was bound over to the Circuit Court this afternoon under $500 bond on the charge of robbing the Peck drug store, December 10 or 11.

According to the testimony, the fact that the store had been robbed was discovered by Patrolman King about 2:15 o'clock the morning of the eleventh. He found a broken window. A footprint in the snow corresponded with that of Branham. A revolver, silver watch, money, medical tablets and several prescriptions, including five for narcotics had been taken.

The evidence hinged on a prescription for morphine sulphate written by R. L. Hopper and presented by Branham for filling at the Columbia Drug Co., December 12. A date on the prescription was for December 12, showing that it must have been written after the robbery occurred. Garrett T. Norris, an employee of the Peck Drug Company, identified the date as his handwriting, but asserted that the figure 11 had been changed from the original figure 4, the date on which the prescription was filled, according to the files of the company.

TO ALL MEN OF DRAFT AGE

Questionnaires Must Be Filled Out in Seven Days.

It will be twenty days before the local draft board completes the work of mailing out the 2,400 questionnaires to men of draft age in the county. Every man who registered in June and who is not in active military service will be required to fill out a questionnaire. That includes all exempted men and all men who have enlisted in some branch of the service, but have not been called.

Registrants are given seven days in which to answer and return the questionnaires. Questionnaires will be mailed out in the order of liability for service under the old draft regulations.

Legal advisory boards, each composed of three lawyers and three associates, have been appointed by the Attorney General to aid registrants in answering the questionnaires. The boards were formed mainly to aid aliens and uneducated persons. Persons of average intelligence will not find it necessary to consult the boards except upon a few questions.

On the front page of the questionnaires are the five classes into which the registrants will be divided. Each registrant will designate in what class he thinks he should be classified. The board has the privilege of changing this after examining the questionnaire.
